New Waveland plaza boasts major stores

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Plaza Associates, Chapel Hill, N.C. announced this week the construction of a 199,000 square-foot Shopping Plaza in Waveland.
Site construction will start in two weeks, according to David Jarrell, director of real estate for the firm.
Completion date for the shopping complex at the intersection of US-90 and Hwy. 803, will be in August, 1980 according to Jarrell.
Stores which reportedly will occupy Choctaw Plaza will be K-Mart, with an area of 55,552 square feet; Delchamps Food, 28,082 square feet; Revco Drugs, 8,450 square feet; Volume Shoe, (Pay Less) occupying 3,150 square feet; and Cato's, a ladies ready-to-wear store, 3,600 sq. ft.
The site construction should entail approximately three months since an extensive amount of soil will be brought in, the spokesman said.
Plaza Associates is also developing a similar site on Highway 49 in North Gulfport and one in Gautier on US-90 and Bond Road.

The Waveland shopping plaza will have parking for 900 vehicles with room for expansion, Jarrell said.

"We have been talking to several merchants for the smaller shops which will occupy 10,000 square feet of the building," Jarrell reports.
He said he still has a few small shop spaces to lease.

Woods arsonists active in county

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
Some 300 fires have been "deliberately set" in Hancock County forests in the past 12 months, damaging almost 5,000 acres.
Rand D. Riedrich, Hancock Area forester, said his department is engaged in an all-out effort to apprehend persons responsible for woods arson in the county.
In connection with those efforts, he noted the July Grand Jury here indicted Herman Moran, 28, of Pass Christian and Ervin Storey, 18, of Kiln for woods arson.

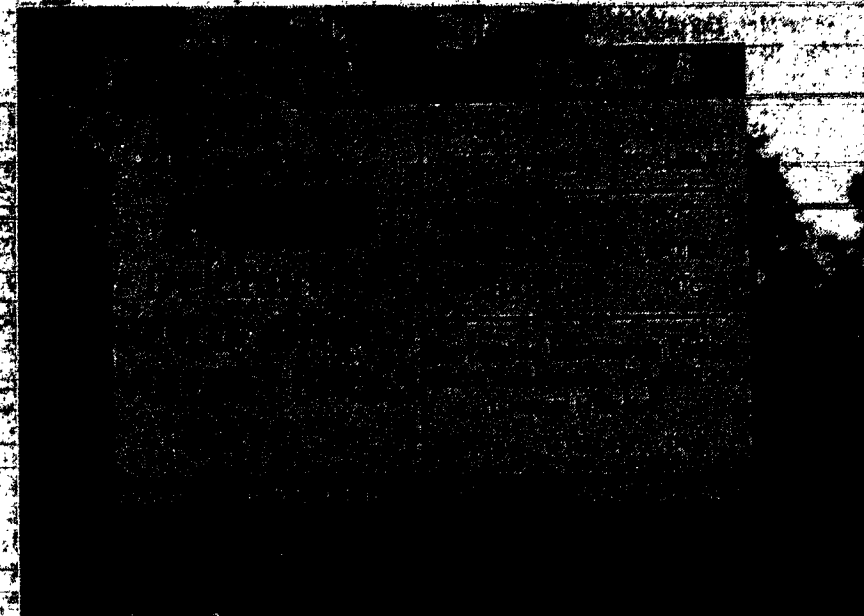

Storey is charged with feloniously starting a forest fire near the Rocky Hill Community in February on woods owned by W.G. Smith.

Moran is charged with starting a woods fire near Rocky Hill Community in February on woods owned by Hancock Bank.

According to the Mississippi Code, "If any person willfully, maliciously, and feloniously sets on fire any woods, meadow, marsh, field or prairie, not his own, he shall be guilty of a felony and shall, upon conviction, be sentenced to the state penitentiary for not more than 10 years nor less than one year, or fined not less than $200 nor more than $1,000 or both, in the discretion of the court."
Riedrich says, "Woods arson is a problem in Hancock County."

The forester said of 337 forest fires in the county during the July, 1978 to June, 1979 period, 37 of the fires were accidental.

"The problem is," Riedrich elaborates, "that the public's help is needed to convict arsonists, that the community is tight-lipped."

NEW SHOPPING CENTER - Plaza Associates, Chapel Hill, N.C. will start site construction in about two weeks on Choctaw Plaza, according to David Jarrell, director of real estate for the firm. The 199,000 square-foot shopping area will include K-Mart, Delchamps Food Store, Revco Drugs, Volume Shoes, and Cato's. The shopping plaza will be located at the intersection of US-90 and Highway 803 in Waveland. (Staff photo - Ellis Cuevas)

Couple wed Saturday, found dead Tuesday

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
Two young Kentucky newlyweds, the man with hands and feet bound, and the woman naked, laying alongside him, were found dead at 11 a.m. Tuesday in a small ditch off Cheyenne Road in Deleaux Community.
The two were in their mid-twenties and have been dead since Saturday or Sunday, stated Jim Sanders, criminal investigator for the Harrison County Sheriff's Office, as he searched the undeveloped Highland Acres subdivision for clues Tuesday.

The couple was identified by forensic pathologist as Joseph Mayer, 24, and Theresa Mayer, 21, of Paducah, Ky. who were reportedly married Saturday afternoon.

The badly decomposed bodies prevented determination of cause of death, the investigator said, adding they had been sent to Coast hospitals. The bodies were later transported to the New Orleans Parish Coroner's Office for autopsies.
Sanders explained Tuesday, "To speculate the cause of death would be premature, because the bodies have deteriorated badly."

The investigator added the man was not wearing a shirt.
Harrison County Sheriff's Office report they are looking for a white male suspect with brown hair and a Van Dyke beard.

Police say the man may have taken the couple's 1976 cooper-colored Oldsmobile Cutlass, bearing McCracken County, Ky., license plate number DFR 666.

County inmate released to FBI officials

By RICH ADAMS
A man arrested last month and charged with aggravated assault, attempted rape, and burglary has turned out to be a fugitive, wanted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the U.S. Marshall's Office, and a court in Grand Rapids, Michigan, according to Waveland Police Investigator Robert (Poochie) Partavoulle.
Kenneth Harrison was arrested in July and indicted by the July Grand Jury on the three criminal charges.

Partavoulle said Wednesday, he discovered Harrison's real name is Tony Harrison, alias, allegedly wanted by the FBI, being an inmate at the Grand Rapids Prison, and by Grand Rapids authorities.

The police chief said Harrison was indicted on charges of attempted rape and burglary, and was held in the county jail for the time being.

Harrison was turned over to federal authorities, Partavoulle said.

Ohio man killed on US-90

By RICH ADAMS
A Middletown, Ohio man was killed Sunday evening at the intersection of US-90 and St. John Street in Bay St. Louis after he apparently walked into the path of a car.
Bay Police Chief Douglas Williams said Albert Lee, 50, 1419 Oxford State Rd., Middletown, Ohio, apparently stepped into the path of a car driven by Robert C. Cabirac of Metairie, La.

Lee had reportedly crossed the highway after running out of gasoline in the eastbound lane of US-90, and upon recrossing the highway, reportedly stepped into the path of the oncoming car, Williams reported.

Cabirac was estimated to have been travelling approximately 25 to 40 miles per hour when the incident occurred at approximately 9:25 p.m., the chief reported.

Lee was pronounced dead on the scene by Hancock County Coroner Carl Banderet, Williams added.

Lee's body was taken to the Edmond Fahy Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis and later transported to the Freeman Funeral Home in Waynesboro.

Cabirac was cited with involuntary manslaughter and lodged in the Hancock County Jail under a $1,000 bond, the chief reported.

The incident was investigated by Bay St. Louis Police Investigator Michael Hobby.

Local law enforcers warn of auto theft

By RICH ADAMS
At least nine vehicles have been stolen from Hancock County residents in the past two months, and county law enforcement agencies are urging residents to remove keys and lock their cars.

Bay St. Louis Police Chief Douglas Williams and Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner reported six car or truck thefts in the Bay St. Louis area in the past month, and Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn reported three car thefts in that city.

Williams reported a 1978 Lincoln Continental was taken while parked in the lot at the Bay Shopping Center on US-90.

The car, belonging to Charlie Henderson, was later recovered.

Automobiles owned by Billy Brelaud and Anthony Lolacano, both of Bay St. Louis, were also stolen last week, according to police.

Brelaud's car was recovered in Pass Christian.

Lolacano's 1979 Cadillac has not yet been recovered, Williams said.

A pickup truck owned by St. Stanislaus High School was stolen last month, as was one owned by E.J.

Bay High's band hall: 'missing' for 14 years

By RICH ADAMS
The issue of an auditorium building incorporating a band hall which was to be constructed at Bay High in 1964 has been raised again in the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District.
Members of the 'Band Aides,' a group of parents and band supporters, recently began pressuring the school board to finance a new band hall for the growing music program at all Bay St. Louis schools, a facility the Band Aides claim is 14 years overdue.

One of the most recent proposals, still pending before the board, is to have the U.S. Naval Construction Forces (Seabees) from Gulfport build a band hall.

Sources indicate this is not a feasible solution, because the Seabees could not provide the proper type of building for the Navy supply maintenance to the construction.

A band hall and auditorium containing seven classrooms was planned in the 1964 bond issue, but the construction was never started.

at that time the band hall-auditorium was omitted then from the construction plans on the present senior high school facility.

The $1,183,000 bond issue passed by a mere five votes above the required 60 percent needed in November, 1964 and bids for construction were let early in 1965.

In July 1965, the auditorium was omitted from the building plan because the district ran out of money, choosing air conditioning in the new senior high school instead of the auditorium.

A report entitled "Auditorium Gets the Ax," in the Sea Coast Echo, July 22, 1965, explains the reasoning behind the school board's decision:

"To include an auditorium or not was the question when the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District board met Monday (July 19, 1965) to decide on school bond expenditures," the report reads.

The auditorium and field house slated for the new high school had to go. Air conditioning was retained as was the full schedule of construction at Waveland and Valena C. Jones Schools," the report continues.

Starting with a budget of $1,000,000 for proposed expenses, the board approved a construction tab of $1,157,551," the article reads.

Robert Hamilton, then school board president, made a promise to build the auditorium when funds became available.

"We are going to have a first-class school," said Board President Robert Hamilton, "and to do that it is better to delete some items altogether than skimp and do a second-class job. We have the design and original specifications intact. The auditorium can be added at a later date as and when the funds become available," the 1965 report reads.

The auditorium then was postponed indefinitely because funds had run out.

In a report in the Sea Coast Echo in June, 1965, a month before the band hall was axed, the board approved purchase and construction of 100 additional seats for Tiger Stadium.

The report did not elaborate on the price of the extra bleachers; however, when in November of 1965, additional funds and borrowing power came to the system in the form of an $800,000 increase in local tax assessments.

In the November 11, 1965 edition of the Echo, McCullough was quoted as

USM offers business seminars

Credit Collections for the Small Business and How to Finance Your Business Through Bank Loans will be the topics of two seminars on August 24 and 29 respectively at the University of Southern Mississippi conducted by Bob Meisel, business consultant.

The seminars are co-sponsored by the Small Business Administration and the USM Department of Business and Industrial Programs, Division of Continuing Education and Public Service.

Meisel, specializing in small business management and records, has served as a consultant to more than 500 small businesses.

He has designed his courses to fill the need for these areas he sees as weaknesses in most small businesses.

Credit and collections will deal with such questions as should you offer credit? Collection systems, delinquent credit and cash flow needs. What to do when going to see your banker?

The language of banks and question bankers will ask are some of the topics for the second workshop.

Seminar sessions will take place in Room G of the R.C. Cook University Union. Each seminar will be limited to 50 participants.

Registration will take place from 8:30-9 p.m. each day and sessions will meet from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. each day.

Participants may attend both seminars for $135 per person for three or more from the same firm for one of the seminars. Materials, lunch and refreshments are included in the fees.

For additional information contact Donna Garvey, Department of Business and Industrial Program, Southern Station Box 5055, Hattiesburg, MS 39401.

Watkins brings lieutenant governor campaign to Coast

Troy Watkins took his campaign for lieutenant governor into South Mississippi last weekend, speaking at Raleigh, McLain, Lucedale, and Escatawpa.

Watkins continued to carry to the voters a campaign theme of honesty, integrity, and qualifications for the job. The veteran senator said he has fought for honesty and integrity in government for the past 14 years.

"After two terms in the Senate, 2 was instrumental in getting an ethics bill through that body at the 1979 session," he stated.

Watkins also talked of the necessity of tackling an issue as a whole and not just individual problems.

About gasoline allocations, he said, "Increasing gasoline allocations for Mississippi will help, but only in the short run. Short-sighted goals just won't do. At any rate, increases in gasoline allocations must come from the federal government. We can't wait for Washington to act - we have to deal with the problem ourselves."

Noting that Mississippi is currently dependent upon other states for 45 percent of her energy needs, Watkins stressed, "Individual problems must be put into perspective in relation to the total problem. The availability of gasoline for automobile consumption is only a part of the problem. Half solutions are not solutions at all."

"Mississippians can work together to lick this thing." He referred to an earlier statement in which he called for stimulation of research and development of alternate energy sources and coordination of a state energy conservation plan. Watkins took a break from his busy campaign schedule to visit Biloxi Saturday night where his youngest daughter, Carole, was named first alternate in Mississippi's Miss Hospitality contest. "I am very proud of Carole, as I am of each of my 5 children," the candidate ended.

Winter offers program to upgrade education

In a series of speeches around the state this week Democratic gubernatorial candidate William Winter proposed a seven-point program to upgrade Mississippi's educational system.

"If Mississippi is to have a future, our children must have a future in Mississippi," Winter said. "As your governor, I will work to build a strong school program for the 1980's which will lift Mississippi off the bottom and give our young people an education as good as any in the country."

"Only tough, intelligent leadership from the governor's office can make our goal of top quality education a reality in this state," Winter stressed.

Winter's seven-point program included a constitutional amendment to create a Lay Board of Education. "The size, finances and organization of our public schools now call for a policy body representative of the people of our state," Winter said. He promised to appoint the most qualified and concerned citizens from every sector of the education community to that board.

Winter also announced a plan called "Operation Uplift" to raise the salaries of all school employees to the average of the Southeastern region of the country by the end of the next administration. Said Winter, "This goal can be achieved without a tax increase by streamlining the tax support system and the operation of our schools."

Winter called for the rewriting of the state's education laws. He would urge the legislature to establish an Interim Task Force to draft a new Minimum Foundation Program to be submitted to the 1981 Regular Session. Winter stated, "It's past time that we assure a quality education to every child in the state regardless of where that student lives."

real estate values in his area or how many students show up for classes.

Winter also advocated an expanded program of career counseling and vocational education to increase the relevancy of education for many of the state's youth.

Commenting on Mississippi's universities and junior colleges, Winter said he will appoint to the Board of Trustees, "only qualified persons who are concerned with the overall university system and not one particular institution."

"I will do everything in my power to restore a sense of community involvement and pride in the operation of local schools," Winter concluded.

1979-80 schedule listed at PRJC

Pearl River Junior College will kickoff its 1979-80 school year with registration according to alphabetical listing August 22 and continue through August 23.

Classes actually begin August 24 at 8:15 a.m. PRC faculty and staff will report to campus August 20 at 8:30 a.m. for orientation and committee assignment. A faculty workshop is planned for the next day, August 21.

School will be in session for one week before observing Labor Day, Monday, September 3. Regular classes begin again Tuesday, September 4.

September 10 is the last day to register, change or drop a course without penalty. Other first semester holidays include Thanksgiving, Wednesday, November 22, and Christmas Holidays, December 21 through January 2, 1980.

Spring Holidays are planned for March 7-17, 1980 and Pearl River students and faculty will observe the Easter Holiday, Friday, April 4.

The 1980 Spring Semester will officially end Sunday, May 16 with graduation exercises.

Due to the recent weather conditions caused by a tropical storm, it has been impossible for me to see each of you in District One. We have had excessive flooding last week, as have all Gulf Coast states with rainfall ranging from 11 inches in our area to 25 inches in Texas.

With this kind of unusual flooding and more damage to our Beach Road, my time has been very limited, but I would like to thank the very people that are working in my behalf.

I would also like to thank those who have worked the past 3½ years to make our progress possible, especially our road crew, people serving on County Commissions and my wife Christine, who has put many hours on my telephone.

I really appreciated your vote of confidence last election and I am looking forward to serving and visiting each of you in the future.

Elected Eight Year Term Clerk

Editorial

The quietness scares us!

We hope the quietness of the political campaign will not keep some from the polls next Tuesday.

In conversations with long-time political figures in the county and others throughout the state, this election so far has a tendency of being being very quiet.

Every vote counts (even if a lot of you do not think they do), especially in Hancock County. In recent years one vote has made the difference in several elections.

We would really like to see about a 50 percent turn-out on election day.

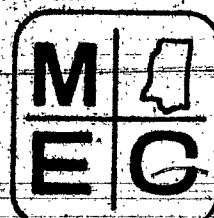

We must remember we will be selecting the nominees for governor, down to all the officials on the local level.

Be cautious as to whom you select in each position, weigh all the qualifications and select the person you think will do the best job in the position.

After you vote, or even before you do so, check with your neighbors and see if they have voted, could be they may have forgotten.

There seems to be a tendency nowadays that the people who gripe the most about the political leaders do not even vote, and they are the people who should be the first to vote.

We will be casting our ballot Tuesday, hope you do so also.

MISSISSIPPI ECONOMIC COUNCIL
THE STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

"MORE JOBS THROUGH ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT"

Candidates for governor have addressed themselves to the problem of more jobs and a higher standard of living for Mississippians, but few have paid more than scant attention to the fact that one means to accomplish that goal is at hand.

Gubernatorial candidates should commit themselves, if elected, to staffing the state's recently reorganized economic development agency with the best professional help available.

That agency, the Agricultural and Industrial Board, was established by reorganization during the 1976 Legislature. The reorganization included changing the name - effective next year - to the Board of Economic Development, reducing the size of the board membership and adopting professional qualifications for certain staff members.

In addition, the board will now be appointed on staggered terms, thus moving the agency away from political influence.

The A & I Board - too often a source of political favors handed out to loyal supporters - has sometimes been staffed in the past with little consideration given to professional qualifications.

The Mississippi Economic Council urges the gubernatorial candidates to commit themselves to staffing the agency with the best professional help available. The quality of work done by the Mississippi Board of Economic Development will be dependent upon the appointments of the next governor.

No. 16
July 1979

The month of July is always a busy time for the Treasury Department as the State's fiscal year comes to an end June 30th. Again the books were closed and balanced and a new fiscal year began.

For fiscal year 1979, after paying all our bills, we had a net cash balance of $95,778,646.84. This compares with previous years as follows:

June 30, 1978	$119,345,443.97
June 30, 1977	73,013,841.19
June 30, 1976	45,782,447.77
June 30, 1975	64,504,617.64
June 30, 1974	100,517,066.22
June 30, 1973	111,058,966.03

This is not a surplus, but it does reflect our strong financial position.

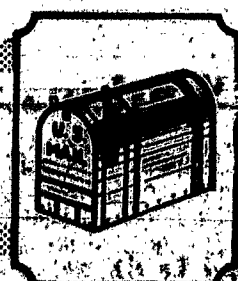

Your taxes for the 1980 fiscal year have been reduced by removing the sales tax on prescription drugs and by approximately fifty million dollars in income tax - a recognition by the Legislature that financially the State has been strong.

For the past fiscal year, 1979, the Treasury Department earned a total of $30,748,258.94 in interest on funds invested by the State Treasurer. Public funds earning this interest are invested by the Treasury Department in 201 banks and 59 savings and loan associations. These public funds are invested in each of the 82 counties of Mississippi at interest rates ranging from 5 1/2% to 10 1/2%.

The Treasury Department during 1979, had invested the general fund monies $268,202,000.00 on which interest earned totaled $12,233,000.56.

Leetown VFD appeals for Revenue Sharing funds

July 30, 1979
Board of Supervisors
Hancock County
Bay St. Louis

Gentlemen:

It has come to the attention of the Leetown Volunteer Fire Department and other members of the Leetown and Flat Top Communities that approximately $500,000 in revenue sharing-funds have been made available to the Hancock County Board of Supervisors for use in county projects.

We are requesting that part of this money be spent to assist Leetown Volunteer Fire Department in constructing a building which would serve the communities of Flat Top and Leetown in three capacities; as a fire house, as a much needed voting precinct house and as a community center.

Leetown Volunteer Fire Department was organized to satisfy one of those community needs - fire protection.

Unfortunately, the organization has met with limited success in obtaining funds from private sources, benefit functions, etc., and is therefore in need of a building to make it a working fire department.

At the same time, the building being used for a combination voting precinct house-community center is in deplorable condition and is becoming an eyesore to the community.

It is in a general state of disrepair, has no rest rooms and its only water source is obtained through a leaky plastic water line which taps off the nearby Baptist Church's water supply.

No county money has been spent on this building in recent times, with the possible exception of used county bridge timbers being provided to replace the rotting porch.

The problems outlined in the preceding paragraphs could easily be resolved by the granting of this request and the benefits derived from its granting would be considerable.

For example, much needed fire protection would be made available to this presently unprotected part of the county. In addition, the quality of life of residents in the Leetown and Flat Top Communities would be greatly enhanced by the presence of a building which would serve as the focal point for the civic and political activities of these communities.

It is rare that an arm of a county government has the opportunity to simultaneously solve three separate and distinct problems in a single act. We feel that this is just such an opportunity and are confident that the Hancock County Board of Supervisors will rise to the occasion.

School official reviews shot law

Dear Parents:

As a result of a newly adopted Mississippi State Law, it is now unlawful for any child to attend any public or private school, including kindergarten, without having first been vaccinated against the following diseases: diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, red measles, rubella, and polio.

This new law was applicable only to children enrolled in grades one through eight during the 1978-79 school year. In 1979-80 the law will apply to children in grades one through twelve.

Effective in the fall term of 1980, the law will apply to all children, grades one through twelve.

These vaccinations may be obtained at the Hancock County Health Department or at the office of a family physician.

In all cases, only certificates or vaccinations issued on forms specified by the Mississippi State Board of Health will be accepted by school officials for showing compliance with the immunization requirements.

Parents whose children have been previously vaccinated at the County Health Department or at a physician's office must obtain a Certificate of Vaccination for their children and present such at the time of enrollment for the 1978-79 school year.

Certificates of Vaccination may be turned in at the office of the principal of the school in which a child will be enrolled during the 1978-79 school year Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. - 3 p.m., August 1-17.

If a child attempts to enroll at a school without having completed the required vaccinations, the local health officials (not school officials) may grant a period of time up to ninety (90) days for such completion. If, in the opinion of the health officials, such delay will not cause undue risks to the child, the school or the community. Under no circumstances shall a child be enrolled without having first had at least one dose of each specified vaccine.

Any child who is enrolled at the beginning of the fall term of school must be suspended until he is in compliance, unless the health officials shall attribute the delay to lack of supply of vaccine or some other factor making compliance impossible.

A certificate of exemption from vaccination for medical reasons may be offered on behalf of a child by a duly licensed physician and may be accepted by the local health officer, when, in his opinion, such exemption will not cause undue risk to the community.

A certificate of religious exemption may be offered on behalf of a child by an officer of a church or recognized denomination. This certificate should certify that parents or guardian of the child are bona fide members of a recognized denomination whose religious teaching require reliance on prayer or spiritual means of healing.

Terry Randolph

I noticed recently that the name of my store is never done the same way. I have one style on my ads (or lately I've had one), another on sales slips, and still others on bags, wrapping paper and letterheads. Should They All Be The Same?

Dear STARTS: Probably. It's not worth throwing away a lot of otherwise perfectly good materials. But you are now aware of the differences and it will continue to bother you more and more.

This will especially be true as you begin to take more notice of other stores' "logos," and trademarks and the consistency with which they use them.

Before deciding on a design, however, you should consider all the ways it will be used, and try to see or visualize it in every application.

To be completely consistent the same design should also be used on the front and throughout your store; and possibly on special labels for goods.

Most designers try to get too clever and use complicated, sometimes at the expense of the effectiveness of the design. A simple, clean design of 1979 will prove to have more lasting value. Also, this hopefully will call for few changes in the future.

Even if you do change it, slight alterations will provide transition from one style to another, rather than abrupt about faces that would make all other materials immediately obsolete.

Plan to get the logo in a variety of sizes for your ads and other applications. Sometimes it helps to have some with shaded backgrounds and others with shaded letters, as well as solids.

With this kind of emphasis on your name, extra space allocated in newspaper layouts would be most appropriate. Some stores are even consistent with the placement of the logo within the layout.

Not only consistency is the important element, but also clarity. When you are doing

Grasshoppers, blister beetles plague upstate soybean farmers

FARM NEWS AND VIEWS
By Mike Windham

The dry summers we've had in the past four years are still causing problems for soybean producers, especially those in the northern half of the state. One of the problems this year is grasshoppers. Another problem, directly related, is the striped blister beetle.

Extension Entomologist Dr. Lavone Lambert says the dry weather is perfect for building grasshopper populations. Because the young, immature striped blister beetle feeds on grasshopper eggs, blister beetle populations are also increasing. This puts many soybean producers in an either-or situation. Either they must control the grasshopper, or they must control the blister beetle and the grasshopper because both feed on soybeans.

According to Dr. Lambert, the grasshopper may be the lesser of the two evils. Grasshoppers prefer to feed on grassy plants such as johnsongrass. They live along the edges of fields and in the turnrows where johnsongrass usually isn't controlled.

"The soybean isn't an ideal host for grasshoppers. They prefer to feed on grass or grass-like plants, but will feed on almost any green plant, especially when populations are high and they must compete for food," the entomologist says.

The striped blister beetle, on the other hand, feeds extensively on soybean plants once the insect matures. This means the immature stage feeds on grasshopper eggs near soybean foliage. Blister beetles, however, are easier to control. Dr. Lambert says the blister beetle feeds in aggregations within a field.

All the producer has to do is find the aggregation and treat the blister beetle infestation with an approved pesticide.

Grasshoppers are more difficult to control because they are mobile insects.

"With the near normal rainfall we've had this summer, both the grasshopper and striped blister beetle populations should be reduced in the future."

I think we'll see both of these insects diminish. However, the problem is greater now than it has been," Dr. Lambert explains.

Lambert says most producers will not have any serious problems unless they fail to monitor their fields closely. More grasshopper and striped blister beetle infestations are reported in the northern half of the state than in the southern half this year.

He says the main reason for the higher populations in north Mississippi is the difference in rainfall. Traditionally, the southern half of Mississippi gets more rainfall than the northern section; this lack of rainfall has greatly influenced the number of surviving grasshoppers.

Dr. Lambert says he's also seen areas where one field has a high population and a nearby field doesn't have the same type of infestation.

He says low-lying areas subject to flooding don't seem to have the same concentration of grasshoppers. He believes this is because the wetness or moisture in the soil allows microorganisms to attack the eggs and repress grasshoppers in those areas.

The grasshoppers and striped blister beetle will still be with us next year. Dr. Lambert says even though we've had more rain this year than last, there will be no dramatic decrease in numbers.

If we go through another long dry period in August as we have in the last few years, the grasshopper and striped blister beetle populations will increase and be back in greater numbers next year.

TOURIST BORNE AG DISEASES

Many American tourists while in foreign nations buy or pick up various products, souvenirs, or native materials to bring back home without realizing more than superficially that they may be unwittingly introducing disease to the United States and legal trouble to themselves.

The U.S. Customs Service polices this sort of thing. And while "getting through customs" might appear to be a mere inconvenience or petty hassle which many deem unnecessary, every American should be grateful for these watchdogs against disease and illegal goods which have a potential of great harm to this nation.

Some travelers think wrongly that quarantine restrictions are aimed only at commercial importers. But the restrictions apply to anyone who brings or mails agricultural items to this country. And the main reason for the hassle with personal luggage in the customs inspection stations at our international airports is because personal luggage and carry-on baggage are major channels for the international spread of agricultural pests and this column at the height of the tourist season comes upon special request of the USDA. And for good cause. It is aimed at the good guys - not the sleazy smugglers of contraband.

The innocent little lady coming back from her European holiday tour with one or two fruits or sausage in her luggage, or a pet bird in a cage, can be a major threat - for only one piece of fruit, or sausage, or the bird could be the means of accidentally introducing destructive pests or diseases into the U.S. As late as 1971, an imported diseased parrot was responsible for an outbreak of exotic Newcastle disease in U.S. poultry. Nearly 12 million exposed chickens were destroyed to control the deadly virus. Taxpayers suffered a $38 million loss in indemnities paid to the poultrymen for their destroyed flocks.

Plants and animal diseases and pests costs Americans over $12 billion annually. During your homeward flight, assuming you return by air, a stewardess speaks to all passengers concerning requirements of a U.S. Customs Declaration form which she hands out. Each tourist must declare all food, plant and animal products acquired abroad before the flight touches down at an international airport. If you have agricultural items an inspector will see you in customs to let you know if your things can be brought in safely.

TO THE PEOPLE OF DISTRICT TWO

As the campaign begins to wind down, I would like to take this means to thank the voters of District Two for the fine action you have given me during the campaign. From my standpoint, all across the District, you have listened to me and I have listened to you.

I think you've a great future in Hancock County. Much has been accomplished, and there's much left to do. If I was fortunate to visit with you personally during the campaign, I was because of the press of County business. Please consider this a personal appeal for your vote in the upcoming election.

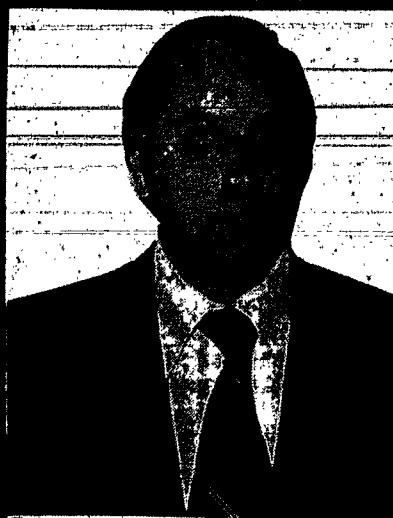

Remember! Ralph Keller has the experience, the knowledge, and the ability to get the job done.

restoration begins

The Grand Village of the Natchez Indians has begun reconstruction of the experimental Natchez house. The completed reconstruction of the house has been scheduled to coincide with Indian Festival Week, August 19-25.

Indian Festival Week will be highlighted by native American dances and craft demonstrations by the Alabama-Coushatta Indians of Livingston, Texas. The structure, designed and built by the staff of the Mississippi Department of Archives and History last year, was toppled by heavy winds in April. The rebuilding of the hut marks the beginning of reconstruction efforts at the Grand Village.

Plans are underway to reconstruct the Great Sun's house and the Natchez temple this fall and winter. The techniques used in the reconstruction are based on accounts of how the Natchez originally built them.

To aid in completing the reconstruction, anyone having cane or Johnson grass to donate should contact the Grand Village.

Over a dozen fully costumed Indian dancers will participate in a variety of North American dances with narration explaining the purpose of the dances. The dances will be group dances, solo exhibitions, duel matches, dance contests, and audience participation dances.

Handicraft demonstrations will feature Spanish moss weaving, pine needle basketry, and bead work as practiced by the Alabama-Coushattas. The variety of items that can be made from natural materials, their uses, and decoration will be demonstrated. Simple tasks in all of these can be tried by visitors.

Mississippi Delta Blues Festival set in Greenville

Mississippi Action for Community Education, Incorporated (MACE), will sponsor the 2nd Annual Mississippi Delta Blues Festival at Freedom Village near Greenville Saturday, Sept. 8.

The all day event will begin at noon and last until dark. Featured on the program will be many of the originators of the Mississippi Delta Blues tradition; such Blues masters as Eugene Powell, Big Joe Williams, Sam Chatman, and Furry Lewis.

James "Son" Thomas, Huston Stackhouse, R. L. Burnside, Mose Vinson, and Mrs. Van Hunt are among the outstanding Blues greats making a return appearance.

Outstanding Blues musicians making their first Mississippi Delta Blues Festival appearance will be Boyd Rivers, "Harmonica" Frank Floyd, Sam Meyers, Abe Young, Willie Peoples, Eddie Quesic, Cleveland Jones, and Doc Ross.

Blues sensations Robert Lockwood and Johnny Shines are newly invited guests presently under consideration along with new Blues discoveries such as Betty Fikes, the "Windy City" Blues Band of Lefty Dix and young Lounie Pitchford of Lexington, Mississippi. Workshops and special features are also scheduled, including a continuous dance

"Juke" in the Freedom Village Hut.

Food, arts and crafts, and service items will be sold at the festival.

A slight admission fee will be charged.

This year's Festival is supported in part by grants from the National Endowment for the Arts, the Mississippi Arts Commission, the Ford Foundation, and the Mississippi Authority for Educational Advancement.

City-County Library
offers 'how-to' books

If the end-of-the-summer doldrums are getting you down, learn "how-to" do something about it at the City-County Library.

With a collection of over 150 "how-to" books and a "How-to-Do-It Encyclopedia," the library offers its patrons a wide variety of useful, instructive information for everything from inexpensive home redecorating to playing winning softball.

Several books show the amateur carpenter how to make furniture, plan a house, build a fireplace, construct a workshop and remodel a home of kitchen.

For the homemaker there are tips on cutting your energy bills, decorating your home without going broke, getting 20 to 90 percent off on everything you buy and sewing pants and jeans that really fit.

"How-to" hobby books instruct the reader in painting, doing beadwork, keeping and breeding tropical fish, bird watching, making pottery and other ceramics, and playing the guitar.

Sports-minded readers can learn how to keep fit, play better baseball, football and basketball, play championship tennis, and be a star in swimming and diving.

Fix-it books give the home handyman instructions for being your own home electrician, repairing major appliances and fixing almost everything.

Children too can have "how-to" fun making cookies and cakes, making birdhouses and birdfeeders, playing little baseball, making origami (the Japanese art of paper folding) and making mobiles.

So take the time to come by the City-County Library and check out some of our handy "how-to" books. You're never too old or too young to learn a new "how-to."

Promises raise false hopes, candidate says

Charles Deaton, candidate for governor, told supporters this week "campaign promises which raise false hopes among citizens are political tactics similar to the old 'pigeon dropping' game."

The Greenwood lawmaker said he would never insult the intelligence of voters by "promising more programs and less taxes. Ask anyone who knows 'Charlie' Deaton and you will learn that he is open, frank and never attempts to mislead the public."

"People have lost confidence in their political process because of such campaign trickery," Deaton charged.

"I want better schools, better roads, better health care and better jobs, but I also want sound financial policies," he said.

"The Deaton administration will work for increased productivity in agriculture, business, government and industry which would increase our tax base and decrease the need for social welfare programs," declared the veteran legislator.

Deaton said, "A Governor cannot accomplish anything without cooperation from the Legislature. After 20 years in the Legislature, I know that I can work with my former colleagues in the House of Representatives and Senate," he concluded.

Some changes you WILL be able to count on in the Chancery Clerk's office when Jerry Ladner is elected your Clerk:

1. You WILL receive the courtesy and respectful treatment due you as a citizen and tax payer of Hancock County.

NOT the rude and Discourteous treatment displayed in the past.

2. You WILL be able to count on the services of the Chancery Clerk's office free of charge to everyone.

NOT the petty practices of charging some individuals for such services as filing a paper or making a copy of a record. These records and machines in the Chancery Clerk's office belong to the tax payers and not the Chancery Clerk.

3. You WILL be able to count on Jerry Ladner to serve all the people of Hancock County.

NOT a select few who think they own you and the county.

4. You WILL be able to count on Jerry Ladner to always work unselfishly for progress and improvements in our county.

NOT with secret or self-centered ways.

5. You WILL be able to count on Jerry Ladner to cooperate with every elected official when the issues are in the best interest of the people of Hancock County.

BUT NEVER WILL Jerry Ladner sell out the people of Hancock County in order to become part of any political machine.

6. You WILL be able to count on Jerry Ladner to speak out and keep you informed.

He WILL NOT be afraid to stand up or question any political issue that may effect you the people of Hancock County.

NOW Jerry Ladner needs you to stand up for him, as he has done for you in the past and will do in the future.

State Senator Con Maloney said, "We've blown that theory to smithereens."

Maloney spoke to more than 150 Bramlett leaders from across the state at a Jackson rally. Bramlett is a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in the August 7 primary.

Maloney, who joined the Republican party earlier this year and is running unopposed for his third term in the state Senate, said, "We must use the same criteria in selecting a candidate that we use when we're hiring someone for a job."

He said Bramlett "offers leadership ability and potential and has indicated his willingness to work with the legislature."

"The governor must be a good listener," Maloney said. "He must work with a team. He shouldn't announce, 'I'm going to do something.' It should be, 'we're going to do it.'"

In a speech to the supporters, Bramlett predicted victory in his August 7 battle with Gil Carmichael. "Somebody said that you can't win an election talking about God and country," Bramlett

Herring promises to lure industry

On a final campaign blitz around the state this week, gubernatorial candidate Jim Herring told voters that his solid campaign organization should "put him in the winner's circle in the August 7 primary."

"We have worked hard over the last four years to build what the news media is calling the 'strongest organization' in the governor's race," said Herring. "I think that our organizational edge will put us in the winner's circle for the primary."

The Canton attorney noted that he had "started early and presented a platform built upon a series of position papers which have addressed the major issues that face Mississippi as we seek to move forward through economic development."

Herring reemphasized many of the key issues, including his commitment to hold an economic conference in December "calling together the best minds in the state to create an economic program to present to the legislature in January."

The 40-year-old Democrat has also proposed the removal of sales tax from basic food items; incentive programs for business, industry and agriculture to create needed jobs; and a special session of the legislature to revamp the Minimum Foundation Program for education.

"If we are serious about getting this state on the move economically," said Herring, "then we must take the bold steps that will get the job done."

"As governor, I will surround myself with competent professional people who are only interested in promoting the state, and not in feathering their own nests," said Herring.

The former county prosecutor and district attorney said that "Mississippi is on the brink of economic prosperity. Business and industry are moving into the Southeastern United States, but they will not automatically come to Mississippi."

"We must elect a leader who will aggressively go after that business and industry," said Herring. "I have presented a solid platform of programs that will take us off of the bottom economically and bring to our people the quality of life they have so long deserved and so long been denied," he added.

Herring said that his "opponents have had a combined total of somewhere between 50 and 100 years of 'experience' in state government and yet they have not gotten us off the bottom."

"I don't think Mississippians can stand any more of the 'experience' of the politicians of the past," said Herring. "Mississippians want a leader who can get the job done. I can get the job done," he said.

A message To The People Of Hancock County

I humbly submit myself to you for your consideration as Sheriff.

When you go to the poll's August 7, I ask each of you to look at my 11½ years as an elected official in 2 different positions: Both being in law enforcement directly and from their different districts. I ask each of you to judge my work as Constable and Justice Court Judge and see if I don't meet the requirements to be your next Sheriff. I'm experienced, concerned, Qualified and have the ability to the get the job done.

There has been a lot of derogatory remarks directly and indirectly about me that are totally false. I've made decisions while in office that wasn't easy but I made them to the best of my ability, based on the evidence presented and according to law. No group or individual have ever influenced any decisions. I have financed my own campaign in most parts, the few contributions I have recieved are on file in the Circuit Clerks office. If elected I will serve you the people to the best of my ability in a professional manner. Due to the energy crisis, "Gas Shortage" and inclement weather, It will be impossible to see each of you. Wittorf represents Hancock in VICA's US Skill Olympics

David Wittorf, 1979 graduate of Hancock North Central and Pearl River Junior College's Hancock County-Vo-Tech Center, last week attended the National Leadership Conference and United States Skill Olympics in Atlanta, sponsored by the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA).

Wittorf was one of the state winners representing Mississippi at the VICA National Meeting. The Georgia-World-Congress-Center was the site of most conference events.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wittorf of Picayune, David competed in machine shop skills.

VICA is the national organization for trade, industrial, technical and health occupations education students.

Its members number almost 280,000 in local clubs in 48 state and territorial associations, including Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

At the Atlanta meeting, delegates elected new national officers, planned their organizations program for the year and participated in the VICA U.S. Skill Olympics (USSO), a national-level competition in 36 occupational and leadership skill areas.

Wittorf intends to enter Pearl River Junior College this fall to further his already extensive skills in the machine shop area.

Proposals totaling $744,084 ok'd for area Mental Health

The Mississippi Health Systems Agency's Board of Directors met recently to review project health care applications. Before being presented to the MHSA board, these applications went through various review stages from staff review and analysis to the community level in which the application is located - to the designated review committee.

Comments and recommendations from each of these reviews are presented to the Board members as part of their deliberation.

Recommended for approval for this area were three separate requests from Region XIII Commission of Mental Health and Mental Retardation of Gulfport:

(a) Conversion Grant Continuation Application that tends to add the following services: Transitional Halfway House; Elderly Services; and to expand existing services; total cost of project - $376,535;

(b) Children and Youth

Services Continuation Grant which proposes to use funds requested from DHEW to continue providing Mental Health Services to the children and youth of the service area that includes Harrison, Hancock, Pearl River and Stone Counties; total cost of project - $205,004;

(c) Consultation and education Continuation Grant which intends to use requested funds to continue the provision of Consultation and Educational Devices to Region XIII Commission for Mental Health-Mental Retardation service area; total cost of project - $162,545.

Also appointed was Singing River Mental Health-Mental Retardation Services of Pascagoula request for an Alcohol Counseling Services Outpatient Program that will provide counseling, treatment, rehabilitation, consultation, education and prevention to alcoholic clients in Jackson and George Counties; total cost of project - $153,885.

PROMOTE EDUCATION ELECT

BILLY D. SILLS

For Superintendent of Education Hancock County

EDUCATION IS MY BUSINESS—

—CHILDREN MY CONCERN

Since announcing my candidacy for the office of Hancock County Superintendent of Education, I have sought friends who are vitally interested in our educational system and who are willing to assert themselves in its continued growth. I will try to contact each of you personally; this campaign will be a "Grass - Roots" campaign, with a "people-to-people, neighbor-tell-neighbor" approach. Only by all of us working together can we begin to build a quality educational system for Hancock County.

I call on you to help in my campaign; once elected I will continue to call on you as we work together to strengthen our schools.

Education is something about which I feel strongly. My association with the education profession has been a personal one. I have taught in the public schools of south Mississippi for twenty-one years.

The students of today will be homemakers and breadwinners in a few short years; then they, too, will be plagued with the economic problems that confront many of us now. There is something we can do now to help them. We can give them the best education that we taxpayers can afford.

I have entered this race for one reason - to bring about quality education for the children of Hancock County. With your help I can do it.

As your Superintendent of Education I would work for:

- ★ Early childhood Education
- ★ A full service Special Education program
- ★ A strong vocational - educational program
- ★ Better school-community relations
- ★ Appropriate community services
- ★ Eliminating the dropout problems
- ★ A year-round recreational program
- ★ Discipline in all our schools

These are just a few things that I believe we need in Hancock County. You may not agree with everything I've said - but you know exactly where I stand.

If you have any questions about my priorities and how I will implement these ideas, please contact me when I'm in your community.

In conclusion, I hope you will watch the campaign for Superintendent of Education closely, for I will believe you can learn much about what a man will be like in office by the way he campaigns. As you read and listen to the promises of the various candidates, remember that I am not only a promise to you, I am a promise to work to provide the best possible learning for the children of Hancock County.

VOTER FOR A PROVEN ADMINISTRATIVE ABILITY AND 21 YEARS OF DEDICATED EXPERIENCE.

Why should we the tax payers have our money spent a few months before an election on roads that are already being patched and others that will have to be redone in a few years.

Do you think this is good supervision?

Jim Ladner is proud to be a citizen of Hancock County and Beat 1. He is proud to see Hancock County and Beat 1 grow. He is proud to see new industries come into Hancock County and Beat 1, but what do we have to offer the new people moving in?

Jim is for all new jobs that they will have to offer the people of Hancock County, but first of all we can't forget the people that have lived here all their lives. It seems like they have been forgotten. Not only the young but most of the elderly. Jim Ladner is a man that will stand up for each and everyone through good times and bad times. That is why Jim Ladner wants to serve the people of District 1 as their next Supervisor.

Bay resident among Gulfport lab graduates

Memorial Hospital at Gulfport held graduation exercises last week for three students who have completed their clinical training under the lab technology program coordinated through the University of Southern Mississippi.

The students, Ms. Sue Rogers of Gulfport, Ms. Jo Elzie of Laurel and Mrs. Kathy Belote of Bay St. Louis, have been at Memorial Hospital at Gulfport for six months, working in the hospital laboratory before receiving their B.S. from the School of Laboratory Technology at Southern.

Following successful completion of their American Society of Clinical Pathologists (ASCP) exams, they will become registered laboratory technologists.

Ms. Rogers is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G.A. Rogers of Gulfport. She has accepted employment at Methodist Hospital in Hattiesburg, Mississippi.

Ms. Elzie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.D. Elzie, Jr. of Laurel. She will be working at Watkins Memorial Hospital in Quitman, Mississippi.

Mrs. Belote is married to Gary Belote of Bay St. Louis. She has accepted a position in the hospital laboratory. Mrs. Lee Tucker is the Education coordinator of our hospital's program. She is assisted in the training of the students by Drs. W.D. Atchison, John Basone and Phillip Saccoccia, pathologists. Dr. Atchison is director of the department.

Bay Little League celebrates season end with awards banquet LEAGUE CHAMPIONS—Members of the Merchant's Bank Little League team enjoy a league banquet preceding an awards ceremony at Clement R. Botamp's American Legion home. Jeff Smith, a member of the Hancock Bank squad, received the batting trophy while Buddy Shabazz of the National received the golden glove award. Little League President Donn Murray reported that Shane Corr of Merchant's Bank was one of the most excited youngsters when he received the Courage Award.

SECOND PLACE WINNERS—The American Legion squad placed second in the Bay St. Louis Little League season. Among award winners were Matt Rosetti of the Hancock Bank squad as Most Valuable Player and Al Geroux, manager of the Merchant's Bank squad, who was named Manager of the Year. Mrs. Nolene Breland received a special award from League President Donn Murray for her many years of service to the league.

Stephanie Cuevas and friends

FIRST IN LINE—Craig Breland received the pitching trophy at a Little League banquet conducted at the American Legion home. Breland is a member of the Merchant's Bank, the winners of the league championships, and was first in line to get a plate of 'Big John and friends' fried chicken.

GETTING DESSERT READY—Mrs. Joyce Rhodes, Mrs. Anna Mae Godfrey, and Mrs. Karen Compretta make sure dessert table is ready for all Little Leaguers at their annual banquet and awards ceremonies. A new league president will be elected to replace Donn Murray in 1968. Murray received a national award for Little League President of the Year at the start of this season, and has been selected to assist the Little League Foundation on a national scale.

I am married to the former Betty Maude Moran, daughter of Sylvester Moran and the late Velma Neccase Moran of the Kila, and the father of three sons, Jamie, Gregory and Mark, Dedeaux Community, and two daughters Mrs. Carl (Joan) Olson and Mrs. John (Sharon) Barnett of Kila.

I have tried to contact each and every one of you but as time comes to a close I will not be able to see everyone. So I would like to appeal to each voter, through this article, for your vote on August 7th for Sheriff.

During the past 17 years, I have served you as a Deputy Sheriff, qualified to serve you as your Sheriff.

"The people in this county deserve more protection from the Sheriff's department than they have received. Therefore, I see a necessity to put 3 patrol cars on a 24 hour patrol in 3 different sections of this county. This will give every section of this county coverage from the Sheriff's department. It won't hurt you any, it'll protect you."

When you contact the Sheriff's department for service, you, the people of Hancock County, can't be moved that help will be there.

Home Economist advises family 'cash flow' plan

DOLLAR CRUNCH

By SHIRLEY ROBINSON
"Cash flow" planning is one of the best techniques to help individuals and families manage their money today. It is vital to set up your personal and family spending plan and "cash flow" plan.

Set down your monthly fixed expenses. Set aside every month for the big expenses that come quarterly, semi-annually, and annually - such as insurance, college tuition and vacations.

Pay yourself first and include a regular amount of savings out of each paycheck. Shave your day-to-day expenses (food, clothing, personal care, transportation, and personal allowances) until your fixed and flexible expenses are within your monthly income.

This will take adjusting of costs month-by-month. About 80 percent of the family expenses go for housing, energy, food and medical expenses.

"Cash flow" forecasting can give you an organized look ahead, a clear overview. You'll know where to cut and how much you must cut.

Savings are your most liquid emergency fund and can also be used for unexpected happenings as well as a fund for sudden replacements, like a car tire or an appliance.

Try these cost cutters to make these ends meet in today's dollar crunch:

1. Do all the services you and your family can wisely do to save cost of service dollars. (Save 5 to 15 percent). Seven out of eleven service calls are necessary.

2. If you have charge accounts, try to put at the start of the billing cycle so that you won't be billed for 25 days. Pay before the interest begins on revolving accounts. (Save the overall interest).

3. Avoid waste. Some families save $1000 to $2,000 a year on food and clothing by avoiding waste. (The average household wastes 20 percent of food each day).

4. Consider bargain shopping. If you save $2.22 a day by controlled spending, that's a saving of $810.30 a year.

5. You can save up to 25 percent on cosmetics by taking advantage of sales and promotions. Additional cosmetic savings may be obtained by buying nonbrand names and using household products. Some examples are: baby powder, witch hazel is an effective astringent, and petroleum jelly gives lips the same gloss as an expensive gloss.

6. Substitute other resources for money. Learn to barter or to trade.

7. Watch your habits. Consider waste and self-indulgence. A dollar a day saved is $365 a year tax free.

8. Take advantage of surplus and seasoning sales. Buy clothes and furnishings at 10 to 50 percent saving.

9. Consider renting equipment that you need only a short time.

10. Build-up your savings account and then borrow from yourself and save the interest charge of 12 to 18 percent by paying cash for special items using your own cash reserve.

11. Learn and develop skills in the market, skill in thrift, skill in the use of credit, and skill in the use of finance institutions.

12. Make do with what you have - redo, maintain - repair or remodel. (Stretch your dollars 10 to 50 percent), and last, Shop wisely and smartly. Compare prices. Shop with a list of needs and amounts you can spend (Stretch your dollars 30 percent).

Seabees honor

Fairconnetue

Two civilian employees of the Navy Commissary store at the Seabee center in Gulfport recently received awards from Capt. Robert J. McHugh, Jr., commanding officer.

Albert J. Fairconnetue, produce manager at the commissary, was presented a 30-year length of service award and Winston H. Faircloth, foreman, received an outstanding performance evaluation.

Fairconnetue resides in Bay St. Louis and Faircloth is a resident of Long Beach.

Norman B. Teague, a resident of Gulfport and a Navy civilian employee at the Seabee Center, was recently recognized for outstanding performance as an instructor in the Naval Construction Training Center.

Teague received an outstanding performance rating and a quality step increase.

CHANCERY CLERK
HANCOCK COUNTY

My EXPERIENCE in the Chancery Clerk's office began in August of 1965 after graduation from high school. I worked practically every desk in the office and was eventually promoted the position of Chief Deputy Chancery Clerk. Due to illness, the Chancery Clerk in office at the time was not able to report to work much of the time from 1969 through the end of 1971. The responsibilities of running the office became mine. I believe that those of you had occasion to do business with the Chancery Clerk's office while I was associated with it will remember being served by a well trained, courteous, and efficient staff. I felt it an obligation and a matter of pride to carry on those traditions that were a matter of policy in the office at that time.

In January of 1972 I agreed to continue working for the new Chancery Clerk as his Chief Deputy - to assist in the administrative responsibilities of the office and the training of the office personnel until I resigned in February of 1974. A total of 8 1/2 years of EXPERIENCE.

When making your choice for Chancery Clerk on August 7th, please consider these facts:

1. I have 8 1/2 years of EXPERIENCE in ALL phases of work in the office.
2. I have the EXPERIENCE necessary to train a new staff.
3. The number of employees who have quit the Chancery Clerk's office recently has left it with an inexperienced staff.

4. I am willing to work two years of the term of office, during the first 10 months of my EXPERIENCE as Chancery Clerk, I will be working for you.

5. I am willing to work for you for the remainder of my term of office.

6. I am willing to work for you for the remainder of my term of office.

7. I am willing to work for you for the remainder of my term of office.

8. I am willing to work for you for the remainder of my term of office.

ELECT
HARRY D. MITCHELL

State
Senator

The concerned citizens of Pearl River and Hancock Counties are urged to vote for Harry D. Mitchell for the office of State Senator.

Now, more than ever, Pearl River-Hancock needs a man in the legislature with fresh ideas, and a fresh approach to leadership in the government, that will combine common sense with continuous contact with the pulse of the community.

These are not times for do-nothing politicians who take their positions for granted and who strive to go through to re-election on the strength of their committee membership rather than the evidence of their accomplishments.

Let us send to Jackson a man who has proven his concern for the community time and again and who has taken the time and expense to make sure you know how he stands on the issues we face as a society.

On Aug. 7 you can demand proper representation in the state legislature by voting for Harry D. Mitchell for state senator of Pearl River-Hancock Counties.

Harry Mitchell is the voice of the working person.

Jackson State offers toll-free information

Jackson State University, is conducting a state-wide awareness campaign to acquaint prospective students, parents and the general public with its services and programs through August 10.

The campaign, conducted by the Office of Admissions, consists of telephone calls to prospective students and other interested persons, informing them of admission requirements, financial aid, housing, academic affairs and other items of interest regarding college life.

Interested persons may also call the university for information concerning the university's operations.

All calls will be made and received by the admissions office, but will be transferred to other offices for answers to specific questions.

Telephone calls will be made Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m., and from 8 a.m. to noon Saturdays. Call toll free by dialing 1-800-682-5390.

The campaign is billed as "Operation Jackson State" and may be used by callers to assure prompt attention to their needs for information about JSU.

BOATING TOPICS

by Bob Brewster
MERCUISER OUTDOOR CONSULTANT

TYPES OF TOPS
Folding tops for boats come in a variety of styles.

On some, the front edge of the top is attached to the windshield with suitable snap fasteners.

Straps or flaps at the rear end of the top attach to deck fasteners and put tension on the top to keep it standing.

Other tops have straps both fore and aft to hold them up. By adjusting the straps, the forward part of such a top can be snugged down against the top of the windshield to shut out cold wind or spray.

But on a fine day, the top can be repositioned with several inches between it and the top of the windshield.

There are also fisherman's tops. They vary in size and detail but as a group are characterized by being supported by a pair of uprights set well in from their edges.

Many tops are easily fitted with side curtains, which can be very welcome on wet days and in cool weather.

Another option is a rear flap, running from the aft end of the folding top down to the stern of the boat.

This can convert the cockpit into an enclosed sleeping area for overnight or even week-long trips.

It will also keep rain out of a boat when it is left at a dock or mooring.

The MerCruiser stern drive boat house crew suggests that you study the various types of tops well.

PRJC revamps fall courses

Pearl River Junior College has revamped its class schedule for the fall semester in a way that will benefit the full-time and part-time student.

"In our effort to keep up with the times we have reorganized the periods and days a student must attend class," said Willis Lott, director of admissions.

"This procedure will definitely help the individuals that must work and will also allow commuting students to become more involved," he explained.

Seven classes are scheduled for Monday, Wednesday and Friday while only four longer periods are set aside for Tuesday and Thursday. An activity period for all clubs and organizations is sandwiched between the 75 minute periods on Tuesday and Thursday.

There are several ways to take advantage of the new scheduling system. It's possible now for a student to arrange a full college load on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, permitting Tuesday and Thursday to be free, or the reverse can be applied where a student attends class on Tuesday and Thursday and be off the other days of the week.

A third alternative is where classes are scheduled for the mornings, Monday through Friday, allowing the individual every afternoon off.

"We are doing everything possible to make education here at Pearl River as easy, accessible and economical as possible," said Dr. Marvin R. White, PRC president.

"The PRC Board of Trustees is very aware of the economic situations in our area and nation," Dr. White said, "and they are determined that Pearl River will be the leader expected of us."

The new schedule will permit students and parents to save money by cutting the number of trips necessary to attend class and it will allow a student to work if that type of arrangement is needed.

"We are going to assume our responsibility," Dr. White promised, "and this class scheduling change is only the start."

"MONEY TALK"

By NOKINE EARNES
Appliance replacement is a periodic expense that families need to plan for.

Eventually, most things wear out or become unusable. However, as long as the washer will operate it is hard to deny ourselves the things we want today in order to save money for a new washing machine next year.

How long household appliances last depends, to a large extent, on the kind of care you give them. The average life expectancy of appliances is as follows:

Automatic Washer - 9-11 years
Electric Clothes Dryer - 14 years

Refrigerator - 15-16 years
Freezer - 15 years
Range (gas or electric) - 15-16 years
Upright Vacuum Cleaner - 18 years
Tank Vacuum Cleaner - 15 years
Sewing Machine - 24 years
Automatic Toaster - 16 years

Non-automatic Toaster - 7 years

'Salute to Military'

The Second Annual Salute to the Military, an activity of the Gulfport Area Chamber of Commerce, is scheduled for Tuesday, October 2, 1979, in the Convention Center of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Coliseum Complex.

Chamber President Jim Fargason announced that the guest of honor and featured speaker will be General David C. Jones, USAF, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

In addition to General Jones, this evening of patriotism and pageantry will be highlighted by appearances by the Air Force Band of the Gulf Coast and the Air Force's "Strolling Strings" from Washington, D.C.

"Based on what the military means to us here on the Coast, we ought to fill up the Convention Center to show them how very much we appreciate them," Fargason stated.

Tickets for the event are $12.50 per person and are available to the public. Reservations can be made through Monday, September 25th. Tickets for the function, set to begin at 7:00 p.m. for dinner, are available at the Gulfport Chamber of Commerce.

Construction Women plan national meet in Houston

The Mississippi Gulf Coast Chapter No. 254 of the National Association of Women in Construction (NAWIC) July 17 reviewed a slide presentation entitled "Battered Women—Violence Behind Closed Doors," given by two representatives of the Women's Crisis Center on the Coast.

President Sybil G. Waddell of Wallace Industrial Constructors presided over the business meeting.

The chapter's installation banquet is to be at the Biloxi Holiday Inn August 18, at 7:30 p.m. for the members, their employers and guests. Erma Lamounis is chairman of the Installation Banquet Committee.

Waddell, Kay Ward of Sherwin-Williams, and Marian Smith of Carroll Specialties, Inc. were selected delegates to NAWIC's 24th annual convention at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Houston, September 12-16.

Sue Ulmer of Sherwin-Williams and Erma Lamounis of J.O. Collins Contractor, Inc. were selected as alternates. The convention will focus on "Today's Professional Woman." Speakers who will address the convention include Captain James A. Lovell, U.S. Navy (ret.) who will kick off convention activities when he addresses the opening session.

Also during the first session, Texas State Representative (D) Wilhelmina Delco will speak on legislative awareness suggesting professional ways that NAWIC members can become involved individually in legislation affecting the construction industry.

Friday's speakers include Ed Foreman, successful businessman and leader in executive development; and Patricia S. Nettleship, president and chief executive officer of Northern Pacific Construction Co. Ms. Nettleship is one of five women who has been granted membership in Young Presidents Organization.

NAWIC members attending the convention will be involved in professionally conducted seminars on "Time Management," "Profiles of a Successful Woman," "Dress for Success," "Projecting a Professional Image," "How to Legally Flourish in Today's Construction Economy," and association workshops on membership promotion, program planning, and a film festival featuring motivational and training films specifically directed to women in the construction industry.

Four new members were initiated into the chapter during the business session... Pam Lee, O'Neal Electric Co., Inc.; Mimi Davis, Turner Construction Company; Bobbie Papp, Gullid and Grade Architects; and Betty Jo Lewis, Office of the Resident Officer in Charge of Construction, USN.

The next monthly meeting will be Tuesday, September 18, at the Biloxi Holiday Inn at 6:30 p.m.

Membership in the NAWIC Mississippi Gulf Coast Chapter No. 254 is open to all women employed in any phase of the construction industry. For further information about the next meeting and NAWIC, contact Nancy Lawrence, H. Gordon Myrick, Inc., P.O. Box 1479, Gulfport, MS 39501 or call 864-9911.

Historical register lists Yazoo City

Containing over 170 architecturally significant residential, commercial, civic, and ecclesiastical structures, the Yazoo City Town Center Historic District has been entered in the National Register of Historic Places.

Elbert R. Hillard, director of the Mississippi Department of Archives and History, was notified of the new listing by Chris Therrall Delaporte, director of the Heritage Conservation and Recreation Service, Department of the Interior.

The historic district almost entirely covers the original 1922 plat of Yazoo City and represents small-scale urban development. The proposed historic district boundaries have been drawn according to historical development, land-use, and topographical patterns.

The residential section of the historic district, viewed from the east, slopes downward from Broadway (U.S. Highway 49) and Madison Street toward the Yazoo River and intersects with the Washington and Main Streets civic-commercial area.

Two fires, one in 1839, and one in 1904, destroyed the Yazoo City central business district. The present commercial buildings were constructed within one year of the 1904 fire.

The historic district, however, corresponds with the scale and design integrity of the original area. Rows of two-story brick storefronts and churches line Main Street, and civic buildings line Washington Street, while shaded wood-frame houses line the older residential section.

Few incompatible intrusions exist. Located at the center of the historic district, the Yazoo County Courthouse unifies juxtaposing civic-commercial and residential streets.

The Ricks Memorial Library, previously listed on the National Register of Historic Places, also enhances the historic district.

Three architectural styles are represented in the storefronts in the historic district: Commercial Italianate, High Victorian Gothic, and Renaissance Revival.

In the residential area the most common architectural style is seen in the one and two-story Queen-Anne-houses with extended gable fronts. Greek Revival and informal bungalows and cottages built around 1920 also appear in the residential area.

The Yazoo City Town Center Historic District will serve as a landmark commemorating the history of the area.

Yazoo County, originally inhabited by the Choctaw Indians, was formed in 1823. The town of Benton was named the county seat in 1836. Hannan's Bluff, a settlement along the banks of the Yazoo River in 1830, became the city of Manchester.

Then, in 1838, Manchester was renamed Yazoo City. In 1849, Yazoo City was named the county seat.

As the location of the Confederate Navy yard, Yazoo City played a major role in the Civil War. After the war, the Yazoo River served the town by providing transportation for shipping cotton and other produce from the Delta.

The town began to recover quickly after the destructive 1904 fire. The population of the town increased significantly, growing from 4,944 in 1901 to 13,500 in 1920.

Plans for revitalization for Yazoo City, currently with a population of 11,500, includes an Urban Development Action grant application for improving parking facilities and streetscape amenities.

Recently the courthouse and city hall have undergone rehabilitation. The Triangle Cultural Center, the adaptive use project for the former Main Street School, now nears completion.

The National Register of Historic Places, authorized by the Historic Preservation Act of 1966, identifies those properties worthy of preservation for their historic, architectural, or cultural significance and provides some measure of protection from alteration by federally supported projects. The National Register Program is administered in Mississippi by the Department of Archives and History.

Ladner clan of German background spelled Ledner

By MAUD LADNER
My parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Ladner, lived in Bayou La Croix all their married life. This is a little community about ten miles west of Bay St. Louis.

Daddy lived there from birth, and at the age of 86 he died.

Mother, Angeline Seal, was born in Pine Grove Community which is about fifteen miles north of Picayune.

At an early age, Mother's family moved to Lion's Branch near Kiln. She, and others in the community, established the first Lion's Branch Baptist Church.

At her death she was a member of the First Baptist Church of Bay St. Louis.

Mother and Daddy married in 1897, and each was 18 years old. To this family they added eleven children.

We have no direct lineage of Mother's inheritance except that she had an Irish background. We have not succeeded in connecting her with Ireland's Seals despite the fact that a great number of Seals live there.

Daddy's background is too long to attempt to relate it all, some we have proof, and some we don't.

But we do know he has a German background. His great-great-grandfather Christian Ladner, was a German doctor who was sent here to help the Colonies fight the yellow fever.

Dr. Christian Ladner brought with him from Germany four sons. And from all accounts, and according to the census records, these sons wasted no time in helping populate the coast.

The sons' children did likewise. We still don't know how the "L" got in their names.

One of Christian Ladner's grandsons, John Baptiste, had a son named Julian, and Julian was my Daddy's grandfather.

Julian married Helen Cuevas, daughter of Juan Cuevas of Cat Island fame.

Therefore Juan Cuevas was my Daddy's great, great grandfather.

A young German Jew was on the coast two months ago trying to get the connection to the Christian Ladner lineage since he came from the same line.

I talked at length with him, but he said he did not know of a written record of the Ladners in Germany except what the older Germans told him. He also said that in his country the name was spelled Ledner, but that if a Ledner wanted to rise above his environment, he spelled his name Ladner.

Regardless of the spelling, Ladner, Ladner or Seal, my parents were good, kind, upright citizens who tried to bring up eleven children the same way.

The information I have just quoted about the Ladners came from records in Washington, Jackson, Gulfport, Biloxi, and Pass Christian, and John H. Lang, who compiled, "A History of Harrison County."

Ladner spellings vary, clan covers the Coast

By JOE PILET

Perhaps the original spelling of the name was de L'Adner. History tells us that a Swiss christened Luis Christian de L'Adner was exiled from France for dealing in "black market salt".

He was a young man when he arrived on the Mississippi Coast in 1719 and was described as having blue eyes, black hair and being short of stature - five feet and four inches in height. He was twenty years of age and he traveled alone.

Old deeds and records show various spellings of the name: Ladner, De L'Adner, L'Adner and Ladner. De L'Adner was a native of Plisterne, Switzerland. The ship bringing him to America was La Marie. For a time he worked at the Chaumont Plantation on the Pascagoula River. In 1723 the plantation was destroyed by a hurricane.

By that time he had married and he together with his wife and their two small children went to Cat Island. His first son, Christian, settled in Pass Christian and another son, Nicholas, built a home in Long Beach. After the house was destroyed by fire, its two chimneys remaining on the site were used as navigation aids by mariners. (Gulf Park College stands on this spot).

According to local historian, Dale Greenwell, the original Christian de L'Adner was one hundred years old when on Deer Island he was confirmed by the Catholic Church. Greenwell said: "There is no question that the city of Pass Christian as well as Pass Christian channel were named for Luis Christian de L'Adner."

Descendants of the Ladner clan are widely scattered throughout Hancock County. Many of them attend annual family reunions.

Bay school catalogue gives historical bits

By JOE PILET

I have no idea who wrote the following colorful account. It is copied from page 9 of Catalog of the City Schools of Bay St. Louis, Miss. It is historically valuable and enlightening in that it gives the sequence of the several names given to our little city now known as Bay St. Louis, and it tells of prominent visitors who came to this area.

His Eminence, Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York. The Supreme Court's desegregation ruling in 1954 rendered obsolete the original purpose of the establishment of St. Augustine's Seminary. "It is said that Lafitte and Dominique You, his first Lieutenant, had 'caches' in the immediate town, somewhere between Carroll and Ulman Avenues. Many a detachment and mound of earth have been made with divining rods, searching after buried Spanish doubloons.

"History tells us that Bucaneers Vasseur and LaFitte had robbed the English Mr. Verant, the foremost man of Bay St. Louis, prior to Jackson's occupancy in 1824.

Jackson's nephew afterwards built a house, since remembered by his name.

"From this place, Jackson went, by water, to Lake Borgne and fought the famous battle of Lake Borgne. A few days afterward he met Lafitte in a coffee house on the corner of Decatur and Toulouse Streets. After an altercation the pirate made history most vigorously on the coast - an incident that was presented as a Jacksonian legend.

In addition to bringing security and peace of mind to customers these early banks promoted enterprise, supported better schools, encouraged reforestation, agriculture and industry.

Simplicity has now become sophistication in ever growing and enlarging banking circles.

Heritage III editor thanks contributors

By JOE PILET

If I were asked to select one character trait dominant in the people of Hancock County, I would unhesitatingly say "GENEROSITY".

This fact I have learned through three years of editing Heritage Editions.

That is why, through this column, I wish to publicly thank each of you who so generously and courteously gave of your time when I interviewed you in my attempt to record some of the interesting history of our unique and altogether delightful county.

Individually and collectively you people have set a record for being the most courteous people in the world!

Unselfishly, untiringly, and cheerfully you have furnished me with information, pictures, stories of wit and wisdom.

Your remarks have never been critical, although often there was just cause for complaint.

Thank you for your congeniality, generosity, and unfailing pleasantness.

Your code of conduct certainly makes our area a most pleasant place in which to live.

Extra fancy strawberries grown in Hancock County shipped in carloads lots

By JOE PILET

Nearing the end of the strawberry shipping season in May of 1935 a strawberry festival attended by an estimated crowd of 2,000 people was held in Long Beach where some 50 crates of locally grown berries were served with rich whole cream and visitors were told that "many crates of fine strawberries from Hancock County went 'forth to distant markets'."

It was said berries grown on the Gulf Coast matured two weeks earlier than the Louisiana product and the fruit was large and of fine flavor.

Speakers on the occasion included Sam Westbrook, Louisville and Nashville agricultural specialist, and the event was under the direction of Dr. A.R. Robertson, vice president of the Long Beach Branch of the Hancock County Bank.

Purpose of the festival was to encourage more growers to plant strawberries, since the land seemed well suited to their culture and they were a profitable crop.

Moreau, Gex man Hancock's first bank

By JOE PILET

Lumber business was booming in Hancock County just at the turn of the century.

The nearest bank at that time was in Biloxi, so most folks just put their savings in the old sock, or buried it in the field so it wouldn't be destroyed in case the house burned up. All in all it was a pretty inconvenient arrangement and not entirely safe either.

So a group of determined citizens gathered at the Courthouse of Hancock County to "organize a bank."

Divine Word fathers opposed on Black seminary proposal

By JOE PILET

At a meeting of the Divine Word Fathers held in Mississippi in 1914 the question of training Black priests was proposed.

Missionaries pointed out the great influence Black Protestant ministers had among their people and felt that Catholic Priests of the Black race were needed. Leading the crusade for Black priests was Father Mathew Christmas, S.V.D. head of the Sacred Heart Church in Greenville, Mississippi. He had the enthusiastic support of Father James Wendel, S.V.D., pastor of the St. Joseph's Church in Meridian. These dedicated men were reputed and constantly encountered formidable opposition.

Five years of letter-writing, open discussions, pleas and prayers passed before the Bishop of Natchez was approached and the following year, 1920, Bishop Gunn gave his permission to the Very Reverend Peter Janzer, S.V.D., provincial. The day project was ready to be launched. Father Christmas was put in charge, and with three separate gifts of $2,000 each the Sacred Heart Mission in Greenville was selected as the temporary location of the seminary. At that time, it was known as Sacred Heart College, which is a small, one-story, frame building containing classrooms, dormitories, a chapel, and a gymnasium. The building was destroyed by fire in 1900 and the present building was erected in 1901.

there were 14 students. Three of this group were ordained in 1924.

In June of 1923 the school was renamed and moved to its permanent location in Bay St. Louis and on September 16 of that year the building was dedicated by Bishop Gunn.

Twenty-two students enrolled, four fathers were on the faculty, high school and junior college classes were taught and 1926 - a banner year - saw the first graduating class.

Three of these graduates entered the novitiate of the Society of the Divine Word, located in East Troy, Wisconsin. In 1928 two of these novices became the first Black members of the Society of the Divine Word. They were Father Maurice Rousseau and Father Vincent Smith.

The great influence of Saint Augustine who was born at Tagaste, North Africa in the year 354 climaxed a thousand, five hundred and seventy four years after his birth with the religious professions of these two distinguished graduates.

And in 1924 the Most Reverend Richard O. Gerow, S.V.D., Natchez came to Bay St. Louis to ordain four Black priests. St. Augustine, thus, became the goal of the founding seminary. At that time, it was known as Sacred Heart College, which is a small, one-story, frame building containing classrooms, dormitories, a chapel, and a gymnasium. The building was destroyed by fire in 1900 and the present building was erected in 1901.

St. Joseph's Academy history is illustrious

By JOE PILET

The long and illustrious history of St. Joseph's Academy in Bay St. Louis suffered a devastating blow in January of 1973 when demolition of this cherished landmark was in progress. To many who watched the destruction of the Academy buildings was a traumatic experience. They eagerly rushed in and bought precious relics, such as desks, furnishings from the dormitories, bricks and newel posts and hand rails. And they talked of the days when their grand-children, parents, they and even their daughters had attended this fine old establishment.

The establishment had its early beginning in the mind, heart and prayers of Father Buteaux who in November 1854 made a trip to Le Havre, France and appealed to the congregation of St. Joseph there "to care for the souls of the children of this new country." Three sisters of the congregation responded and on January 6, 1855 were installed in a very modest home in Bay St. Louis (diocese of Natchez and Parish of Father Buteaux). They taught in Waveland walking the miles from home to school until a tragic fire on the night of November 16, 1897 destroyed the building.

The following March a new building was started. Plans called for a two-story structure of brick with basement, large classrooms and a dormitory for boarding students. Classes opened in this building in October 1908. Grounds adjoined St. Stanislaus College.

During the year 1954 a newspaper article appeared entitled St. Joseph's Academy Has High Academic Rating. The reporter, Joe Allen (now Joe Pilet) wrote:

"St. Joseph's Academy with its splendid rating has long been a member of the Southern Association of Accredited Schools, but recent reports following a study of the Academy made by members of the Evaluation Board have placed this fine old institution in a top position."

"300 Students attend St. Joseph's Academy this year. The majority of these students are natives of Mississippi and Louisiana, however enrollment includes pupils from Alaska to South America and from Florida to Washington. With a desire to learn as a common denominator, girls from Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Latin America, Alaska, Louisiana, Mexico, Washington, Nicaragua, Guatemala, Honduras and Columbia participate in democracy at its best. Neatly dressed in navy blue pleated skirts and white tailored blouses, these girls radiate happiness, peace and contentment.

"There is every reason for a feeling of security and well-being at St. Joseph's. The good sisters who so efficiently run the school take a personal and individual interest in each and every student. Activities are balanced in such a diversified fashion until students are given a well-rounded program of study, recreation, exercise and cultural appreciation.

"Sister Dorothy, principal of the school, is a delightful, diminutive, energetic, enthusiastic and approachable person. For eight years she has been a vital part of St. Joseph's Academy. A creature of rare vision, Sister Dorothy's keen mind unbiasedly examines all possibilities for continual improvement of this school to which she is devoted. She believes each individual is entitled to a hearing.

"Sister Dorothy, a native of New Orleans, loves Bay St. Louis. 'The people here', she says, 'are most cooperative.' 'If we are to count the laundry,' she continued, 'there are six buildings on the campus.'"

These buildings are placed in a rambling sort of way among massive water oaks, shrubs, cedars, magnolias and other shade trees that lend so much to the restful atmosphere. And if cleanliness is next to godliness, surely the Divine Presence lingers near as the buildings and the campus are immaculate.

As a sort of shrine on the campus is the House of the First Sisters. This quaint little building, well preserved, is now over a hundred years old. Other buildings include the Home Economics House, the Gymnasium, Grammar Grade Cottages and the Academy building.

In spite of necessary regimentation so prevalent in all dormitory life, there is a home-like quality evidenced at St. Joseph's. Students have access to television sets, ping-pong table tennis, card games and informal ball games. It is not uncommon to see a dignified "sister-at-the-bath!" Language studies in this school include Latin and French and surely the accent must be on French for the proud heritage of this beloved academy took roots in French soil.

Actually, St. Joseph's Academy is a living monument, erected to perpetuate the memory of a Jesuit whose "Little Plan" conceived in 1850, has become a reality of such magnitude that it stretches from Bourg, France through the neighboring countries of Belgium, Luxembourg, Switzerland and Italy beyond the ocean and into Canada and the United States. This "Little Plan" after 300 years old was simply to place the people under the protection of St. Joseph and give them a pattern of behavior that would enable them to serve more perfectly their God and their neighbor.

Three centuries ago the Sisters of St. Joseph devoted themselves to instructing children of Bourg. So strong was their faith and so great their courage that in November 1854 three of these sisters were passengers aboard the John Hancock. Their destination was America. Their plan was to establish the First Foundation in America to be located in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi.

These three courageous sisters, guided by the instructions of Father Buteaux reached New Orleans in December 1854 after a 41 days voyage from Le Havre, France. To get from New Orleans to Bay St. Louis required another seven hours trek, first by train to the Lake Pontchartrain and then by steam boat to Bay St. Louis. Here they were housed in a four room cottage and on January 7, 1855 opened a school at Waveland. Sister Eulalie in a letter to her Superior wrote: "Bay St. Louis, which is only a small borough in the winter, becomes a great city in the summer. The citizens of New Orleans flock there with their families to take up residence, to flee from the fall of yellow fever which lays waste their city during the hot season."

The Sisters of St. Joseph were warmly received in Bay St. Louis where the citizens felt the need for guidance and instruction for their children. By 1886 the Academy was flourishing and had 45 boarders. In November 1907 a fire destroyed the Parochial School and Academy. Years of work went up in smoke. Undaunted by disaster, the sisters rented a building and school went on as usual. In March 1908 rebuilding of the school began and in October a new and greater St. Joseph's opened its door to eager students.

Small wonder is it that when Sisters of St. Joseph stroll along the shady walks and

Highlights on Hancock Chamber of Commerce

By JOE PILET

How time flies! Would you believe it! Our Chamber of Commerce is fifty-four years old.

In November of 1925 the State of Mississippi issued a grant of charter to "Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce."

Twenty years later (November 1945) the charter was amended with a corporate name of "Hancock County Chamber of Commerce."

Throughout its history this organization has been recognized as "a voice of business, professional and political entities in Hancock County."

The primary purpose of the group is to work for the benefit of a progressive community. The 1925 incorporators included: Joseph O. Mautray, Captain C. B. Fisher and

R. C. Engman. President of the Chamber that year was H. S. Weston.

In 1945, when the name was changed, Al Voight was named president and Arthur A. Scaife was secretary-treasurer.

In 1978 Anita Duncan Lamb became the Chamber's first woman president.

To promote tourism, Hancock County has joined other Coastal Chambers to form the Gulf Coast Council. This group was instrumental in designation of the hospitality station's location at intersection of I-10 and 607.

The Chamber also supported the development of Buccaneer State Park and construction of the City-County Public Library.

Can you name famous native?

By JOE PILET

He was born in Bay St. Louis. His mother was a seamstress. He was given a key to the city of Bay St. Louis by former mayor, John A. Scaife, in recognition of his accomplishments. He is listed in Who's Who in America; the World Catholic Who's Who; Who's Who in Jamaica, and Who's Who in the Western Hemisphere.

He is recognized as one of the foremost sculptors in the area of Black Culture.

The International Business Machine Company has in its collection one of his original works, "Dr. George Washington Carver."

He is now 79 years old. When he was 16 and living in Bay St. Louis he was a gardener on the Harry S. Pond's summer place.

His first exhibit of paintings was at a church festival in New Orleans.

He later attended Chicago Art Institute and studied there four years.

Refusing to take a course in Commercial Art, he was not graduated.

His work may be seen in Whitney Museum, Oberlin College Museum, Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, and Metropolitan Museum to name a few.

At least one of his works is displayed in the City-County Public Library in Bay St. Louis.

A twenty-one-gun salute to Dr. Richmond Barthe, a native son of international fame. A gentle man and a sculptor and he heads the list of Who's Who in Bay St. Louis.

Legislative Audit Report

This is only part of the story. According to published reports, the same contractor may have been overpaid as much as one million dollars for building roads and bridges in the Southern District of Mississippi.

Why should the taxpayers of South Mississippi pay for mismanagement, overspending and corruption? Bob Joiner believes that the people deserve an honest Highway Commissioner. The people deserve their money's worth. Mile for mile.

And dollar for dollar.

Bob Joiner plans to build better highways. He plans to build them honestly. Because that's the only way he knows how to do things.

On August 7th, let's take a firm stand against highway robbery. Let's stand for honesty. Let's stand with Bob Joiner.

HONEY ISLAND

The King of Honey Island by Maurice Thompson with copyright 1892, 1893 and 1896 was a very popular book in which notorious gangs of robbers and pirates with headquarters and hiding places in the swamps of Honey Island were discussed. Long since out of print, a copy of this book may be seen in the City-County Public Library Rare Book Room.

RETURN TO UNION
On February 17, 1870 Congress voted Mississippi back into the Union (the State seceded in 1861). Hiram R. Revels became the first black to sit in the United States Senate. He was chosen for the term ending March 1871.

TOURISM
The completion of a railroad in 1880 between New Orleans and Mobile brought to the Gulf Coast a booming tourist business. Large resort hotels catered to both summer and winter tourists.

ACREAGE, June 1979
Cotton: Acreage planted to cotton in 1979, as of June 1, is estimated at 1,050,000 acres, 11 percent below the 1,180,000 acres planted in 1978, according to the Mississippi Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. This is 150,000 acres below the April 1 estimate.

Soybeans: Soybean planted acreage in 1979 is estimated at 4.2 million acres, eight percent above the previous record high of 3.9 million acres planted in 1976. This is two percent above the April 1 forecast. It is forecast that 4,125,000 acres will be harvested for beans, compared with 3,800,000 acres in 1978.

Rice: As of June 1, it is estimated that rice growers seeded 210,000 acres this year, five percent below the 220,000 acres planted in 1978. Acreage for harvest is forecast at 205,000 acres, compared with 215,000 acres last year.

Corn: Acreage of corn planted for all purposes is estimated at 180,000 acres. This is 12 percent below the 215,000 acres planted in 1978. Acreage to be harvested for grain is forecast at 115,000 acres, compared with 135,000 acres in 1978.

Sorghum: Sorghum planted for all purposes in 1979 is estimated at 70,000 acres, 5,000 acres above the 65,000 acres planted in 1978. Acreage to be harvested for grain is forecast at 25,000 acres, compared with 21,000 acres in 1978.

Peanuts: Acreage planted to peanuts is estimated at 8,000 acres, 300 acres below 1978. It is expected that approximately 7,800 acres will be harvested, compared with 8,000 a year ago.

Sweetpotatoes: Acreage planted and to be planted is estimated at 9,000 acres, 500 acres below 1978. Acres for harvest is estimated at 8,800 acres, 200 acres less than in 1978.

Wheat: Harvesting of the 1979 wheat crop is virtually complete and the acreage harvested is estimated at 115,000 acres, 50,000 acres above 1978. Acreage seeded is estimated at 100,000 acres.

PRICES, June 1979
The June 15, 1979 Index of Prices Received for all commodities decreased 2 points (1 percent) to 273 percent of its January-December 1967 average.

Increases in cotton and soybean prices contributed to an increase of six points (2 percent) in the All Crops Index to 282 percent of its January-December 1967 average.

A decrease in cattle prices, coupled with decreases in poultry and hot prices, led to a 10-point (4 percent) decrease in the Livestock and Livestock Products Index to 262 percent of its January-December 1967 average.

The June ratio of prices received by Mississippi farmers to the U.S. prices paid was 110 percent of its January-December 1967 average.

WEEKLY BROTHERS, Week ending: June 30
BROILER-TYPE
Hatcheries in the State set 6,603,000 eggs for broiler chicks during the week ending June 30, 1979, 11 percent above the previous week and 4 percent above the 6,341,000 set the corresponding week a year ago.

Cumulative placements for 1979 are 151,002,000 broiler chicks - 2 percent above a year earlier.

EGG TYPE
Hatcheries in the State set 317,000 eggs for egg-type chicks during the week ending June 30, 1979, 38 percent above the previous week, but 6 percent below the 337,000 set during the comparable week a year ago.

In the five states that accounted for about 28 percent of the hatch of all egg-type chicks in the U.S. in 1978, settings during the week ending June 30, 1979 were up 41 percent and hatchings were 26 percent above a year ago.

Soybean Insects Peak In August And September

MISSISSIPPI STATE - Populations of insects which damage soybeans begin to increase in late July, reaching their peak usually in late August to mid-September.

Although there are about 15 species of insects in Mississippi which damage soybeans, only two or three species will increase their numbers in any given season to levels which cause economic loss, says Dr. Lavone Lambert, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service pest management specialist.

Most of the insects which feed on soybeans are the larvae stages of night flying moths like soybean loopers, fall armyworms and velvetbean caterpillars.

Several insects which damage soybeans overwinter only in tropical areas. Whether or not Mississippi has populations of those pests depends on whether or not they are present in large numbers in the tropics and if conditions are favorable for migration into Mississippi, explains Dr. Lambert.

Soybean loopers and velvetbean caterpillars are tropical insects which can occur in large numbers in Mississippi when conditions are favorable.

chicks during the week ending June 30, 1979, 38 percent above the previous week, but 6 percent below the 337,000 set during the comparable week a year ago.

Hatch of egg-type chicks was 245,000, 70 percent above the previous week, but 18 percent below the 297,000 hatched during the comparable week a year ago.

In the five states that accounted for about 28 percent of the hatch of all egg-type chicks in the U.S. in 1978, settings during the week ending June 30, 1979 were up 41 percent and hatchings were 26 percent above a year ago.

Soybean Insects Peak In August And September

MISSISSIPPI STATE - Diseases have a major impact on soybean insect populations. Many fungi, bacteria and viruses attack insects. When conditions are favorable for buildup of these organisms, they infect the insects and cause them to die. It is not uncommon for large populations of insects in soybean fields to be eliminated completely by disease organisms within two or three days, says Dr. Lambert.

Migration, diseases and other factors work together in regulating insect populations. This is why populations of damaging insects vary in soybeans. With the multiplicity of factors which influence insect populations, it is impossible to predict accurately when large populations of insects will occur.

This makes it necessary for producers to monitor soybean fields to determine if large numbers of damaging insects are present.

Soybean producers can contact an Extension county agent for information on procedures for monitoring and controlling insects that damage soybeans, he adds.

Excessive costs protested by Dale

Southern District Public Service Commissioner John L. Dale is in Washington this week conferring with members of the Mississippi Congressional delegation regarding what Dale termed as "outrageous and excessive" costs of fuel oil and natural gas being charged by oil suppliers and passed on by the State's electric utilities to customers in Mississippi. Dale, together with members of his staff, will advise members of congress on the disastrous impact of uncontrolled fuel costs on the electric customers of the state due to recent increases in wholesale costs of oil and natural gas used to generate electricity in Mississippi. Dale stated that "the State Public Service Commission is deeply concerned that something be done at the Federal level if all possible to keep fuel prices from rising."

Record voter turnout expected in Tuesday's primary election

By ELLIS CUEVAS
A record number of ballots should be cast Tuesday in the Democratic and Republican primary elections, according to veteran local election-watchers.

Henry Otis, Circuit Court clerk and registrar of voters, says there are now more than 13,500 qualified electors in Hancock County, the highest number ever.

Polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 6 p.m. on election day.

Probably the most talked-about race in Hancock County is the Democratic primary scramble for the sheriff's nomination with the 20-year veteran incumbent Sylvan Ladner not seeking re-election.

Ladner will try to unseat James N. (Jimmy) Travica, vice-president of the Board of Supervisors who will be seeking his third term.

The sheriff's office is up for grabs with Chief Deputy Ronnie Peterson, Deputy Fairley Neece, Ex-Deputy James C. Ladner, former Constable and Justice Court Judge Joseph (Joe) Dobson and former long-time Coroner Emile Piazza seeking the position.

Edward D. (Eddie) Murtagh, assessor-tax collector, and Henry Otis, Circuit clerk are unopposed in the August primary election.

Murtagh was elected to serve the unexpired term of veteran assessor George Heitzmann who resigned in 1978.

Otis will be seeking his second full term, first having been elected to fill the unexpired term of his late father, Lamar Otis.

Justice Court Judges Lee B. Klein, District One; and Horatio Erison Jr., District Two, were also spared opposition in the primary.

Deputy Sheriff's third term and Erison his second term.

District Three Constable Phillip Malley is also unopposed in the August election.
State Senator Martin Smith is opposed by L. C. (Lonis) Ladner and Harry D. Mitchell. Smith seeks his fourth term of serving Hancock and Pearl River Counties as senator.

The office of Chancery clerk has created some interest with J. D. (Big John) Rutherford seeking his third term, this time against three opponents.

Former Supervisor Jerry L. Ladner; County School Administrator Mike Neece; and Lila Ladner Taylor, a Rutherford opponent four years ago and former chief deputy Chancery clerk, are trying to unseat Rutherford.

Hancock County State Representative J.P. Compreia is unopposed for the Democratic nomination in August, but in November will face Republican Karl Goss who is also unopposed in August for the Republican nomination.
On a state-wide basis, three nominations will be settled in the Republican primary Tuesday.

Gil Carmichael faces Leon Bramlett for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, and Jeff East vies with Billy (Rex) Shorter for the party's endorsement for Secretary of State.
The Attorney General's Republican nomination is being sought by Charles Pickering and Toxey Hall Smith Jr., both of whom recently appeared before ELECTIONS—Page 10

DIAMONDHEAD WINNER—Brenda Goldsmith of San Antonio, Texas won the Western Women's National Golf Championship at Diamondhead Saturday afternoon. Ms. Goldsmith will retain for one year this George III silver bowl which is inscribed with the names of past tournament winners. She defeated Holly Hartley of Oceanide, Calif. in 36-hole finals, four and two. Her permanent prizes include a silver tea service and Trans National winner's jacket. Additional reports on the tourney are in today's Echo Sports Section. (Photo by Bob Hubbard)

Poplarville resident killed on Highway 53

Funeral services for Jesse Virgil Sanderson, 67, of Poplarville, who died in a car-truck collision on Hwy. 53, near the Hancock-Harrison County line Wednesday, were at Winstead Funeral Home in Poplarville Friday.

Burial was in Oak Hill Cemetery there, with Rev. B. B. Bass officiating. A Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol spokesman said Sanderson was apparently driving east on the highway when he crossed into the westbound lane and collided with a gravel truck driven by Nolan Sumner, 30, of DeLisle. Sanderson, whose body was removed Friday.

Sanderson, whose body was removed Friday, was a member of the Baptist church.

Jaws of Life equipment, was pronounced dead at the scene.

Driver of a third vehicle, George Dejanette of Piquette who was struck by the gravel truck as August tried to avoid Sanderson, was reported not injured in the accident.

August was treated for lacerations at Gulfport Memorial Hospital.

Sanderson, a widower and native of Lamar County, was a self-employed auto mechanic.

Survivors include a son, Virgil Sanderson of Bogalusa, La.; a daughter, Mrs. Arnold (Mary) Hickman of Rt. 1, Perkinston; a brother, James Edward Sanderson of Monroe, La.; and four grandchildren.

Sanderson was a member of the Baptist church.
